ARABIC-ENGLISH DICTIONARY FOR THE USE OF STUDENTS

BY THE REV. F. J. G. HAYA, S. J.

A. M. D. G.

BEYRUT
CATHOLIC PRESS
1899
The aim of the Directors of the Catholic Press, in publishing the present work, has been to meet the want of a classical Arabic-English Dictionary, which while comprehensive, yet might be handy and cheap enough for practical use amongst the students desirous of acquiring a thorough knowledge of Arabic literature and poetry.

Of the many Arabic-English Dictionaries existing up to this time, those published in England are too expensive for ordinary students, while those that may be found in Syria and Egypt are by no means adequate to any serious purpose, as they only contain a list of the principal words, with none of those turns and expressions that give so peculiar a feature to Arabic, and into which as in a mould the language has been cast.

This Dictionary is an attempt to supply those deficiencies. Without pretending to being exhaustive, yet it is comprehensive enough to enable the students to read the chief works of literature and poetry.

The author has followed in his translation the standard work of Mr. Lane, as it is by far the best work ever published in this line. But as the celebrated Lexicon is only parceled as far as the letter ١, and as it does not comprehend all the roots, it has been necessary to go back to the original Arabic sources.

The work has been compiled on the same principles as Mr. Belot's Arabic-French Dictionary which has been so favorably received in almost every school and has reached within a short time its fifth edition. The English equivalent has been slightly increased in size so as to include many new words and expressions without becoming too bulky.

Moreover the author has taken particular care to translate accurately scientific terms and especially botanical names, which are ordinarily rendered in a general sense by words such as these "species of plant". This is a peculiar feature of this new Dictionary for which the celebrated work of Ibn Bithar the Arab Botanist has been consulted, as well as the modern work of Forskal.

The vulgar tongue of Syria and Egypt is largely represented with peculiar signs and the personal experience of the author has enabled him to add many words and to correct some inaccurate renderings.

An appendix to the Dictionary gives in the original language the etymology of Arabic words derived from foreign sources.
EXPLANATORY REMARKS.

ORDER OF WORDS.

1° The order followed in the Dictionary is the same as is generally adopted by European Orientalists, viz. the radical roots, marked thus (†) are given in alphabetical order, each one followed by all the derivative forms.

2° The foreign words introduced into Arabic, although they do not belong to any radical, have been assimilated to Arabic words, being considered as arabicised and as such connected with a radical really existing or supposed, so that they are to be searched in the Dictionary without taking into account the augmentative letters included in the paradigm سالموني، exactly as would be done for Arabic words.

For instance استنول is to be found in the root نبل (paradigm نبل, كنبل, إنكلب, برم in بيرامون, بكر in يكار, بزر in بزار) etc.

3° Whenever a ن occurs in the second letter of a quadriliteral noun or verb, it is to be referred to the triliteral root, the letter ن being then augmentative; thus عكد قتوت, عقد in عقد in بزور, جرب in جومه, بقر in بقر, خضر in خضر, عبس in عبس, عكب in حدس, حدس in حدس, خضر in خضر, and so on. The reason lies in this, that this letter is added to give an intensive form to the original meaning of the triliteral form, and this kind of words has been so classed in the Arabic Lexicons. But when ن is considered as radical, they are left in the ordinary alphabetical order. Even as a rule we repeat them in order to save too much trouble to the students.

4° Quasi-quadriliteral forms having a و or ي in the second or third letter are to be found in the corresponding triliteral form, to which they are supposed to belong, بقر in يقر, بقر in جومه, بقر in بقر, بزور in جرب, جرب in بزور.

5° Reduplicative verbs such as ززل, فرفر always follow the bilateral verb to which they correspond, ززل, فرفر to ززل, فرفر to فرفر; and they are placed in the same order even if the biliteral root is wanting; thus زعع is mentioned immediately after زع.

6° Quadriliteral words beginning by ی are to be referred to a triliteral noun, as برق يبراق , نبع ينبع , ذرع يروع , حمر يحمر.

ETYMOLOGY.

We give in an appendix a list of Arabic words derived from foreign languages. Those borrowed from Turkish or Persian, are mentioned only when they have undergone a change in the Arabic transcription. For the others the orthography being the same, there is no need of repeating them. We refer these words to their primitive origin, although the foreign words used in common language may be said almost without exception to belong to Turkish, and have been introduced through its medium ; as سراموره, استر يديا, سكورتة, لوكندة, كرانته; and especially all the Persian words as ششم, نشمة, وشنة.

We give the etymology of the words as they are to be found, in Arabic, Persian, or Turkish Lexicons, such as Lane, Freytag, Dozy, Barbier de Mesnard, Meninski etc; but we cannot vouch for the accuracy of all, as some of them are obviously doubtful, especially some Persian words, the etymology of which is variously explained.
In that case we quote the form that appeared to us more consistent with analogy. The words derived from Coptic are not included in the list ; they are very few and they chiefly pertain to names of months, which are only used in Egypt.

We have added an errata to the work, in order to correct some typographical faults, especially those concerning the letters indicating the foreign origin of the words; no doubt, other misprints may be found in the Arabic accents, owing to the minuteness of the type, but they may be said to be unavoidable even in the best Lexicons and can be easily detected by the reader. Errare humanum est.

I wish, at the end of this work, to thank all those who have had a part in so arduous an undertaking, especially Fr. Belot author of the Arabic-French Dictionary, whose assistance has been precious to me, as well as Fr. Louis Cheikho who has given me some very useful advices and generally all those who had a share in the collation of the proofs.

CONVENTIONAL SIGNS.

* Indication of a new Arabic root.

◊ Used in the dialect of Syria.

○ In that of Egypt.

1° It must be remarked that if the two preceding signs are placed before an Arabic root, it means that the Arabic word and its meaning pertain to that dialect; if placed before the English sense, it affects only the special meaning given, the word being good Arabic in its form.

2° It must be noted that most of the vulgar meanings marked with the sign ◊ are common to both dialects, while those marked ○ are only used in Egypt.

(—) in the beginning of a line, stands for the repetition of the preceding word.

E. g. تَرَسُّدُ — is for تَرَسُّدُ تَرَسُّدُ

— stands for ٍُ ٍُ
A comma intervening between nouns or verbs following in a sequel, indicates a new form having the same meaning as the former e.g.

جِبَاشة حُجِطُسات، وَحَبْضُح حُجَطُسات means that جِبَاشة is the plural of حُجَطُسات and that حَبْضُح is a new form in the singular retaining the same meaning as حُجَطُسات

حَبْض حُجَطُسًا، وَحَبْض حَبْضًا means that (حَبْض حُجَطُسًا) is another form of the same verb having the same meaning as (حَبْض حَبْضًا)

A semicolon is put for distinguishing words that have a common meaning, without being synonymous.

A colon placed between two nouns separates the object from the subject of a verb.

E. g. To blast (the plants; hoar-frost) شَقْصَف
To miss (the butt; shooter) أَحْيَى

The words included in a parenthesis are either given as an explanation, or to complete the meaning of a verb or noun, which is not mentioned explicitly in Arabic. Thus a parenthesis explains the sense understood by the letters ه or ١ in Arabic.

These letters show a verb to be transitive; and when they are wanting the verb is intransitive.

١ stands for inanimate things;
١ for animate beings.

When both signs are found together without being separated by و they mean that the verb has a double object.

a i o following an Arabic verb show that the aorist has its second radical in ٢ , ١ , or ٧.

a stands for ٢ as دَغَر يَدَغْر

o ١ as جَبَر يُجِبْر

i ٧ as ْحَفْف يُحَفْف

Two letters following the same verb indicate that the same may have two forms, as : i o جَفَل means that the aorist is جَفَلُ or جَفَلٌ.
